Description

The Daxara 107.2 Trailer is the smallest trailer in the general purpose/occasional use category of trailers, but is still very capable. It is constructed from galvanised steel for strength and longevity and has a gross weight capacity of 350kg.

It is perfect for camping trips as well as trips to take domestic waste etc to the local tip and other such activities. As with all the Daxara trailers the rear panel/tailgate is removable and along with the tipping feature allows for easier unloading of materials such as sand, gravel and earth.

Another useful feature is the recessed lights on the back of the trailer which as well as protecting the lights from getting damaged, allows the trailer to be store on its end, thus taking up far less space when not in use.

The versatility of this great little trailer can be further enhanced by adding any of the accessories shown below. Buying a spare wheel and spare wheel support should be seriously considered when buying a trailer, especially if you intend to use the trailer on long journeys.

Finally, the 107.2 box trailer as with all Daxara trailers meets and exceeds the new type approval legislation being enforced as of October 2012. As a result each trailer produced to these standards has to be supplied with a Certificate of Conformity, an example of this certificate is included with the trailer images above.
